

FINALS NIGHT 2005

The Squash Club finished off another successful season with their squash/racketball finals night held at Crackley Lane. Both junior and senior finals were held on the same night to encourage the younger players to display their skills to a larger audience and to watch craftier exponents of the art.

The ladies squash plate final was a see-saw affair with Jane Adams winning 3-2 over promising junior Ali Marley.

Julian Westwood took a close first game against Jeff Lindsay in the mens squash plate final and cruised to a 3-0 victory.

The mixed racketball final saw Carolyn Lindsay win after Jim Minnis had to withdraw injured, in the third game.

The 'Jackson Drop Shot' trophy is a handicap event and last year's winner, Geoff Redfern, won in a five game thriller against Simon Inchley.

The racketball final between Tony Howarth and Alan Pearson was destined to be a dogged match and all games were closely contested with Tony winning 3-1.

Carolyn Lindsay won her second trophy of the night when she defeated Dawn Ashford in the ladies squash final. Dawn took the first game but Carolyn won the next three games to turn the match round.

The mens squash final saw number one seed, Chris Hall up against his coach and mentor, Steve Townsend seeded two. Chris started very strongly and dominated the early exchanges and took the first game. The gallery were then treated to some controlled and entertaining squash with both players being worked to every part of the court. Chris always remained in control and retained the title by winning 3-0.
